Honeycomb in an elegant display

Authenticity and sophistication not only for breakfast

Natural honey directly from the hive for a breakfast in harmony with nature.

THE TASTING

Each guest can take the desired amount using a spoon.

It is possible to taste honey with its nutritional and healing properties from the piece of honeycomb directly and then chew its beeswax. The display allows total consumption of the product, without residues and waste.

Once the honey cells are cut, the honey begins to flow and ends up collected in a small bowl positioned under the display.

You can decide to regulate the flow of honey by cutting the honeycomb in one or more points.

The expression of your guests on their arrival in the breakfast room will be surprising in front of this wonder of nature, as will be the experience that comes from tasting it.

Built by bees, the honeycomb is full of honey and comes directly from the hive.

Valgarda Breakfast offers it presented on a stainless-steel display, inserted in a wooden frame which allows you to appreciate the authenticity of the product and guarantees stability during tasting.

Everyone will be able to decide whether to take a small bowl of fresh honey or if to consume a piece of the honeycomb directly from the plate.

The stainless-steel display is easy to clean in the sink or dishwasher.

For safe storage, at the end of the service, a special plastic tub is used, the honeycomb must be placed in it. This prevents the product from coming into contact with external agents.

Gourmet topping for sweet and savory dishes.

For breakfast or aperitif, the honey in the comb is fresh, raw, its flavor is less sweet and the consistency of its wax pieces is unique; they are soft and crumbly, like chewing gum.

Supply is guaranteed all year round.
